

A Crystal Ball's glimpse into Halloween 2021 in Shelburne, Charlotte, and Hinesburg

Pumpkins and spider webs and mums and all sorts of Halloween signs spot the towns.

Here's your crystal ball into the coming week.

Check out all the local libraries for their displays, horror movie and spooky books picks.

Bats! Join the Hinesburg Library for an outdoor craft and learning event about bats with Halloween snacks and stories on Oct. 27th.

Shelburne library is hosting Friday Frights Story time at 6:30pm.

Pick up crafts for all ages. Haunted houses for kids and felt ghosts or pumpkins for adults.

The Charlotte Library is creating it's very own pumpkin display! Pumpkin pick up has already started and Drop off is on Oct. 30th at 10am... Or join for a decorating session on the same day!

Want to carve your own pumpkins? There's always Norris Berry Farm where you can get your own.

And if you come across a pie pumpkin, there's a tried and true recipe on Shelburne Orchards' website.

The Shelburne Museum is hosting "The Scarab's Curse" a mystery you can solve with fellow sluths to "match wits with the ancient undead" over zoom at various times Oct. 22nd - 31st.

For adults who want to dress up, there's the Monster Bash Costume Party fundraiser at Old Lantern on the 29th for Manhana Magic, a group that raises money for the children of parents who have cancer.

Don't have your costume yet? No problem, Twice is Nice in Hinesburg has an eclectic assortment of costumes for kids & adults.

For that matter, check out any of your local thrift stores.

For Halloween without the Howl, visit Borderlands at Shelburne Farms on Oct 30th for a magical Hansel and Gretel themed walk through the woods.

Charlotte Recreation has a candy drive to support neighbors. Candy pick up Oct. 25th - 29th.

Shelburne, Hinesburg, Charlotte Rotary Club as well as Parks & Recreation will be hosting a series of events on Halloween!

There will be a costume contest prior to the parade at the south Baseball field behind the town center in Shelburne.

The Parade on Falls Street will start at 2pm.

Games, activities, and even a Haunted Stage at the Town Gymnasium will be going on from 2:30-4:00pm.

Whatever way you decide to spend your Halloween, stay safe and keep it spooky.
